Interreg – value added

Four types of ‘added value’ which may result from territorial cooperation projects*:

1. Organisational and policy learning
2. Solutions to, or progress towards, solving common problems
3. Mobilisation of critical mass
4. Building structures for further territorial Cooperation

* Lisa Hörnström, Lise Smed Olsen and Lisa Van Well , Added Value of Cross-Border and Transnational Cooperation in Nordic Regions

Interreg – value added - Something to add -

1. . Planning, elaborating project, finding cross-border partner, negotiating
2. Eastern borders – establishing links
3. Western borders – re-establishing links, reconciliation
4. Project implementation and reporting
5. Capacity for programme management (shared management ) – national level – ESI

all of that – in English

Why we are doing this?

This was the first time many of us experienced EU in real life. Before it was unknown for us and, therefore, skepticism was present. Now when you see all the great stuff coming out of our projects, you can feel real impact of EU in the region

Focus group Niš, beneficiary of 3 CARDS CBC projects programme Bulgaria-Serbia, 2009.

How to measure value of Interreg for citizens?

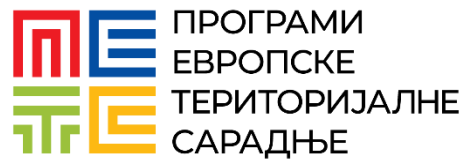

Everything that can be counted does not necessarily count; everything that counts cannot necessarily be counted.
